Negro Soldiers Raped 5000 German Women in Europe

WASHINGTON, D. C.— Several thousand German women were rounded up in the Stuttgart subway and raped by French Senegalese and Berber troops wearing American lend-lease uniforms, Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), told the Senate in an attack on Negro soldiers in general.

A member of the joint Senate Military-Naval Affairs investigation Committee which recently toured Europe, Senator Eastland made his charges in joining the filibuster of his Mississippi colleague, Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, against the Fair Employment Practices Committee. Eastland called the FEPC a Communist weapon to create unrest in this country.

In addition to charges of atrocity committed by French Negro troops against families of French Farmers, Eastland accused American Negroes, "who would neither work nor fight," of criminal assaults.

He named the 92nd (Black Buffalo) Infantry Division of the 5th Army an "utter and dismal failure."

"ATTACKED FRENCH FARM WOMEN"

"I'm not saying that out of prejudice," Eastland continued. "That is what responsible generals told me. Some of the Negro officers deserted their posts; the whole division, without cause, rhyme or reason would quit fighting. The division could not be placed in an important position in the line. If all our divisions had been like that the Germans would have push-us to the toe of the Italian boot."

He said it was necessary in Normandy to "disarm a good many Negro soldiers" because of their attacks on French farm women, and that 26 cases of criminal assault by Negroes were lodged with Armed authorities in Normandy, compared with two such cases filed during four years of German occupation.

"I state that the conduct of the Negro soldier all over Europe was disgraceful to the flag of their country."

In reference to the Stuttgart rape cases, which lasted for 5 days and involved at least 5,000 girls, he said:

"I was informed by generals and high ranking government officials—and other members of the committee were so informed—that in the city of Stuttgart, when the French army moved in, several thousand Christian German girls from good families were rounded up and placed in a subway, and for four or five days they were kept there and criminally assaulted by Senegalese soldiers from Africa," Eastland said.

'WORE YANK UNIFORMS'

"It was one of the most horrible occurences of modern times. Another bad feature of the occurence was that those French Negroes were in American uniforms, and the population of that whole part of Germany thought that American soldiers were involved."

He said he was told the story of the mass rape by Jefferson Caffery, U. S. Ambassador to France, and that the story was later verified by Gen. Jacob Devers, commander of the Allied 6th Army Group, and Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commander of the American 7th Army.

Eastland said that Gen. Devers, horrified by the affair, ordered an American division of troops into the battered city to halt the mass rape. For a time a pitched battle threatened, but the French officers finally ordered the soldiers back into the ranks and marched them away.

NEGROES HEAR CHARGES

Only a half a dozen Senators were on the floor when Eastman spoke, but the galleries were filled with many Negroes among the spectators.

Hitler's Conquest of America

By ROBERT M. HUTCHINS in the Progressive

The most distressing aspect of the world in which we live is its indifference to the basic issues, which now, as always, are moral issues. The words peace, justice, co-operation, community, and charity have fallen out of our vocabulary. They are, in fact, regarded as signs of weakness and as showing that the one who uses them is guilty of the capital crime of modern times—lack of realism.

The rise of the new realism was bound to produce confusion in America; for the new realism is nothing but the old Realpolitik. It represents the conquest of the United States by Hitler.

A nation which has fought two wars to end war must now, in the hour of victory, plan to have the greatest navy in the world; it must have perpetual conscription; and is must get all the island bases it can lay its hands on. A nation which has pretended to the name of Christian must now abandon the attempt to deserve it.

We seem not to see or not to care about the stupidity of following contradictory policies and taking contradictory attitudes. Intellectual integrity is coming to be regarded as a sign of softness, too.

So we call Japanese soldiers fanatics when they die rather than surrender whereas American soldiers who do the same thing are heroes. We prove that all Germans are murderers and all Japanese apes, and at the same time insist that we are going to have one world in which all men are brothers.

We say we are going to re-educate the Germans, and adopt a policy of non-fraternization. We hate slavery and propose forced labor. We want Europe rebuilt, but will have no heavy industry in Germany. We are against dictatorship, but the dictatorship of the proletariat is an exception. And the new day dawns by the light of the burning homes of Tokyo and Yokohama.

The new realism is so unrealistic that it blinds us to our own interests.

To state the thing in its lowest terms, in terms of money and power, which the new realists claim are the only terms there are, our political and economic interests require a prosperous Germany and Japan. Our interests may, in the light of current readjustments of power in Europe and Asia, require a strong Germany and Japan. But we cannot trade with those who have nothing to exchange. And we cannot be sure that our present Allies will always be our friends and that we shall not sometime need the help of our present enemies.

The conquest of the United States by Hitler is revealed by our adoption of the Nazi doctrine that certain races or nations are superior and fit to rule, whereas others are vicious and fit only to be exterminated or enslaved. We are now talking about guilty races. We are saying about the Germans and the Japanese what Hitler said about the Jews. And we are saying about ourselves—or at least we are strongly hinting it—what Hitler said about the blond teutonic "Aryans."

A graduate of the University of Chicago told me that he wished a dense cloud of poison gas would settle over the Japanese islands and destroy every man, woman, and child in them. He had the grace to add, "Maybe I'm not a Christian." Without debating the Christianity of declaring war on women and children, I merely point out the arrogance of the assumption that any American is fit to judge all Japanese.

Hitler's conquest of America proceeds apace as we succumb to the idea that social and political problems can be most effectively solved with the aid of a firing squad. I insist that criminals must be punished. Justice demands that none of the guilty escape. At the same time it must be clear that the characteristic of criminals is that they are individuals, not nations or races. They should be punished for what they individually did.

What they did, to deserve punishment at the hands of human judges, must have been illegal at the time it was done. If the judgment is to command the respect of Americans, it must be shown that the act was one which a patriotic American would not have committed if he had been a patriotic German.

Punishment for illegal acts must be meted out legally, with a fair trial and adherence to the Anglo-Saxon principle that every man is presumed innocent until he is proved guilty. We must remember the ancient doctrine that no man is a judge in his own cause. And it would do us no harm to apply the maximum of equity that one must come into court with clean hands.

We should hesitate to punish Germans for acts which we have committed or may commit. For instance, are we prepared to stand trial ourselves for the violation of treaties and attacks on undefended places?

Are we ready to say in the face of the tommy guns of the SS we would have remained true to our ideals of democracy?

Is the standard we intend to impose on the Germans the standard of heroes and saints, or that of the ordinary man, who throughout the world thinks most of the lives of his family and second about his principle? We could wish that all men were prepared to die for their principles in peace and in war. We do not expect Americans to do it except in war.

We may hesitate a little to punish Germans for crimes against Germans unless we are ready for a foreign investigation of American crimes against Americans. I should feel better about having Americans judge the anti-Semitism and the concentration camps of Germany if I could forget the anti-Semitism and the lynchings in the United States.

Our religious and racial intolerance is unorganized, and violence is sporadic and illegal. We have not yet gone in for these things on the grand Nazi scale. But we are sufficiently vulnerable to lay ourselves open to some embarrassment if we set ourselves to pass judgment on the domestic conduct of other nations.

Of one crime the German people were certainly guilty, and that is the crime which the new realism sanctifies—the crime of indifference. The German people, all but a few million of them, were indifferent to the rights of man and indifferent to the violation of these rights by those in power.

If any nation can be found which is not guilty of this crime, then it is qualified to judge the German people for their indifference to the crimes committed by Germans against Germans.

As for ourselves, it is not unfair to say that the American people, except for a few million of them, are guilty of the crime of indifference in the face of race prejudice, economic exploitation, political corruption, and the degradation of oppressed minorities. This guilt does not assist our claim to judge and punish the German people for theirs.

We believe today that what was miscalled "Reconstruction" in the South after the Civil War was a blunder, if not a crime. One of the factors that shaped public opinion in the North was the revelation of the treatment of the prisoners at Andersonville in Georgia, where, out of 50,000 men, 13,000 died.

The Southerners were then the guilty race. They must be kept down by military force until the end of time. They could not be permitted to rejoin the society of respectable citizens. Talk of non-fraternization, of reducing the South to a subsistence level, and the punishment of war criminals filled the air. Every Southerner was guilty of favoring slavery and rebellion, though it was known that thousands, like Robert E. Lee, had reluctantly taken up arms only because they thought it was their duty to their States.

Andersonville was an atrocity. Those responsible for it deserved punishment. We know now that Andersonville did not prove the depravity of the South. We know that by acting as though it did the North hurt itself and delayed the recovery of the entire country.

Today we are struggling to build a world community. It is impossible that 125,000,000 Germans and Japanese can be excluded from it. We are told that the development of transportation has brought us as close to Berlin as Richmond was to Washington. If this is so, then we have on an internationl scale the same task today that Lincoln had in 1865.

We now believe that his policy was the right, the realistic one. We believe that if that policy had been followed the national community would have soon been restored and years of suffering, which still leave their mark upon the nation, would have been avoided.

The new realism is unrealistic, for in addition to thwarting our own interests, which it falsely pretends to serve, it ignores all the facts—the facts of history and the facts of human nature.

If the policy of Lincoln is the right, the realistic one, and if our task is the same as his, the words of the Second Inaugural should be our guide:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right,—let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

Refujews Well Supplied in Europe

NEW YORK,— A large number of those food packages for civilians in England and liberated Europe, for which the regional Office of Price Administration freely supplies ration points, are going to very well-heeled civilians abroad, it was learned recently.

You can ponder this one while you're scouting around for meat, butter and sugar; one of our largeest department stores is catering to some very wealthy French families through the medium of the Wall St. brokers and financial firms handling their accounts.

STANDING ORDERS of 50

These firms are placing orders for as many as 50 packages at a time—standing orders of 50 a week for France weighing 11 pounds apiece. Packages for England are limited to one a month and can weigh no more than 5 pounds.

Compliance with postal regulations is perfect—each package is sent to a different individual, although conceivably all 50 could be members of the same clan.

Now let's say some individual over here has a worthy friend or relative in England or France and thinks he or she should get more than one package at a time. There's a way of doing that.

Uncle Doakes comes to the department store and buys a package for Cousin Cholmondeley in England. He'd like to see Cousin C. get a few more than that. So Uncle Doakes has his wife and his two grown children each send Cousin C. a package. Everybody's happy, including the Post Office and the OPA which supplies the points.

An OPA spokesman insisted that of approximately 100 packages sent abroad weekly—that is, by people who apply for the points instead of taking a prepared package from a department store—75 go to service men. However, one department store admitted shipping more than 1,000 prepared boxes weekly—and all but a few of them to civilians.

In Washington it was learned, government agencies are considering protests against shipment of these packages but no decision has been reached as yet.

STUDY POINT-FREE FOOD PACKAGES

NEW YORK,— Spurred to action by complaints of housewives, who can buy all the food they want to send abroad, point free, but find it difficult to get scarce items for their own families, Government agencies are investigating the whole set-up of food-package shipments.

Rep. Latham (R.-N.Y.) declared there was danger of "a fraud on the American people."

Several thousand department stores have been advertising the packages, which they will mail to several points in Europe.

Items included sugar, canned butter, canned meat, chocolate bars, prepared coffee, women's hose, and other hard-to-get items.

OPA SUPPLIES POINTS

The stores offer the packages at a flat rate, which includes cost of the items, mailing and insurance. The OPA supplies the points.

Persons who shop for individual items and make up their own packages can obtain the necessary points from the OPA.

It was reported that many of the food packages consigned to England and liberated countries in Europe are going to well-to-do persons.

The Price of Integrity

Dear Gladys:

I had the most astounding experience today and because in its course I was advised to stop mentioning you in THE BROOM I am hastening to write it all down before its imprint is erased by other events. You know, things happen to me, one after another and I want to fix the details of this experience while it is fresh.

A little before noon, today, the phone rang at the shop and a nice female voice asked for me. After I changed the phone to the front office, I was surprised at the intensity of interest in her voice. She wanted to meet me and discuss personal matters of interest to herself. She had taken 12 years to work up courage to meet me. She knew all about me.

To grant her the wish I invited myself for lunch, took off my apron, washed up and got into the car.

At her house I was met by a lovely woman my own age. Her head denoted keen intelligence. Of course, I took the whole shape in, form of legs, proportion of hips to shoulders and the shape of face, etc. I had a new type to deal with and was wondering.

It turned out that the only thing I could eat was a whole wheat bread avocado sandwich with some black coffee. She knew I was a vegetarian, but she did not believe it and was surprised when I turned down her meat sandwich offer. She had watched me for 12 years and was one of my fans. Let's call her Julia because it is not her name.

"I have always wanted to meet you. I listened to your radio programs, I rooted for you when you fought your battles before the Supreme Court in Los Angeles. I admired your smartness how you got out from under the sedition indictment. God gave you brains and you appreciate it and developed this great gift to the highest potence. That's why I admired you. Your arguments are unbeatable. You silenced them when they thought they had you in a hole. You come back at them with God and your arguments are unanswerable. I appreciate your kindness in taking time out from your work to meet me, a complete stranger."

"Well, Julia, you dazzle me with your unadulterated homily. I hope I'll meet you again and we'll manage to be friends."

"There is just one thing, Mr. de Aryan, that puzzles me. Do you really believe all the arguments you bring forth, especially when you silence them by quoting God? I would be very much disappointed if you DID?"

You can imagine my astonishment. "But certainly, I mean what I say about God. I not merely believe it, I KNOW it to be true."

And was she disappointed. It developed that she had imagined I was putting on an act, taking politicians and preachers, judges and doctors at their own professions and making them eat it. But she had no idea that I really meant what I said. So she admired my ability of licking my opponents at, what she considered, their own game.

My stock fell completely in her esteem when she realized that I am a vegetarian. That I uphold the religious principles which I bring forth in THE BROOM. She lives in a world of fake values. Has lived all her life. Stems from the highest stratum of "socitey" in the U. S. A. and is a dyed in the wool cynic. Of course, she is completely unhappy. So I told her that now she had the opportunity of her life to make a friend with whom she can safely unbend.

"What do you mean?" asked she.

"I mean be yourself. I can read you anyway. So you need no longer be on your guard against me. You can trust me. Just be human, yourself."

"But I never trust anybody."

"That's your trouble. I am simple. I say what I mean and mean what I say. There is no guile in me when I offer you friendship."

"But I am disappointed in you. I thought you were smart, but I see you believe all your talk about God. You don't smoke, you don't drink, you eat no meat; what do you do?"

"Well, you can hold hands with me".

"I am afraid of people like you. Like a well meaning person I hope I may say it, don't mention Gladys in your paper again. It detracts from your value. It is not appreciated. It cheapens you."

"Julia!—I offered you friendship. I asked you to unbend. You dare not trust me, nor do you trust yourself. You think the less of me because I practice intellectual and spiritual integrity, because my religion is not a sham. You admire my brains, but you fail to appreciate that it is not my brains but the truth which I speak. I love you the way I love Gladys. I wish you well, you can trust me, but you dare not. It is incomprehensible to you. There is no moral turpitude in my relations with Gladys. It is natural to me to love people. It is natural to keep faith with their trust".

But you see, dear Gladys. She comes from a world where they use words as a weapon but never as the expression of their faith. The things which are dear to us are incomprehensible to them. And since such people cannot understand love except in terms of sex-intercourse, I cannot possibly accede to their ignorance. And so you are going to remain in THE BROOM. Love is the most wonderful thing in the world. It begins with the love of truth, the love of God, the love of keeping faith, the love of being true friends. As long as people don't know that, you and I must continue to teach it by example.

Now I must close. I believe this is just enough to fill up the remainder of the last galley for this week's paper.

Integrity is something very strange to modern people, so strange indeed, they cannot believe I mean what I say ,

Love, KOSTI.

The arrest of six individuals for the theft of confidential files has thrown a scare into the pro-Communist elements of Washington. The six included one Philip Jaffe (New York pro-Communist) and Mark Gayn (formerly Ginsburg). Jaffe is one of the heavy contributors to the Communist Party and has been accused of having access to important government documents which have been used to promote the interests of the Communist Party in the Orient as well as the U. S. Insiders are convinced that Truman will not coddle Reds as they have been coddled heretofore.

Unemployed Veterans: Veterans of this war being mustered out, are finding it difficult to get good jobs. Closed-shop agreements hinder the hiring of veterans. Jobs paying more than $40 a week to GI's are few and far between. Thousands are registered as unemployed.

They Died for Freedom of The Press

By LOUIS CLAIR in The Progressive

(Conclusion)

Henri Mazuir joined one of the Resistance groups early in 1943. In June of the same year he was entrusted with the mission of spreading the local issue of Franc-Tireur in the Rhone region. He worked in the printshop and transported the papers in large suitcases by train to the more distant towns.

How could one evade the police patrols not only on the trains but at all stations, where they controlled in and outgoing traffic? The Resistance movement had informers among the Vichy police service and thus often knew the hours at which control was relaxed. But in many cases such information was lacking, and the man entrusted with the transport just hoped for good luck.

Railway employes often were helpful, but they did not always know when the rounds were expected to pass.

And yet, for 5 months Mazuir circulated his copies in the assigned area. For 5 months he rode on his railroad trains with death as a silent, ever-present companion.

On October 28, 1943, he was arrested in the printshop. On December 21 he was shot. His tortures did not succeed in obtaining any information from him.

Marc Bloch, one of the greatest modern historians, was active writing for the Underground press. He elaborated plans for the France of the future, the France that again will be free. He was one of the key writers for the Cahiers Politiques and the Revue Libre, the 2 main theoretical magazines of the Resistance movement.

Early in March, 1944, the Gestapo that searched for him for a long time, succeeded in arresting him. Through him it hoped to uncover the central organization of the Resistance. They wanted the addresses and names of the members of the Central Council of Resistance: Bloch was tortured in the most sadistic way. Three times he was submitted to one of the most dreadful of all tortures, the so-called "bath": with arms and legs tied, he was put into ice-cold water and kept under water until he lost consciousness and was nearly drowned. Then he was revived and pressed for information. After having endured this torture three times consecutively, Marc Bloch died in prison.

Not a single member of the Resistance was endangered through his arrest.

This is how 3 men of the Resistance press died. Three men. But there were hundreds of them. Hundreds died the martyr's death so that the people of France should know the truth.

France is free again. Ordinary sheets put out in ordinary printshops. The little house in the dark alley of Lyons has become peaceful— instead the presses on Main Street are bustling.

Many of today's newspapers have the same names which they carried Underground: Combat, Franc-Tireur, Action, and Defense de la France can now be bought at every newsstand.

Yet, has the spirit that sustained the Underground press been preserved? Gen. Charles De Gaulle, who was hailed as liberator during the Vichy days, now wields power to censor the new press, and he makes use of this power. Those who fought in the Resistance realize that there still is a long road until the goals which they had set themselves in their Underground fight will be realized. There is many a fight ahead, many a battle to be waged. And maybe truth will again have to go underground.

We read in an editorial of Lyon Libre of November 1944, written by one of the closest friends of the 3 martyrs: "We sometimes ask ourselves whether your death was not too high a price for our victory of which so many mediocrites now take advantage."

And yet, theirs was not a vain fight.

Elliott Roosevelts $200,000 deal is just the beginning of sensational, disgraceful and scandalous discoveries. When Biddle is out and the new Attorney General comes in, many people will be surprised to discover some of the things that have been covered up. Much can be told about the Alcan Highway, oil developments in Canada and numerous ship scandals. For instance: Certain ships have been insured for as high as 100 times their actual value. Thus making it more profitable to the ship owner for the vessel to be sunk than to arrive safely. Some call such operations "big business in blood."

138,000 American and Allied prisoners of war are now held in Poland as hostages by the Russian Government. Informed observers here in Washington would like to know why Russia should be permitted to hold any American in prison or even delay his return home.

War Criminals Judge War Criminals

Dear Mrs. Stroik:

Thank you very much for your letter and poem and I greatly hope that President Truman, will have the wisdom you pray for.

I enclose you a copy of Peace News. There is a good article "The Verdict of History".

One does not know what is "really" happening in Europe, the blackout of news is very complete, but a friend wrote to me and said "This Trial of War Criminals business seems likely to degenerate into a horrible exhibition of political spite and vengeance, in which the accusers could qualify for a place in the dock considerably better than the accused."

The demoralization of six years of war is terrible—apparently, no chance of justice, for those who have done their best to stand for reason. Sincerely, C. E. PAYNE

The following are excerpts from letters previously received from Mrs. Payne:

The Catastrophe of Europe is appalling—if only your new president had the guts—to apply Truth—Justice and Reason and to offer just terms to Japan—the lesson of what Victory has meant to Europe, Complete Chaos—should be realized. —C. E. PAYNE

Rlys Davis and the Duke have been the consistent and courageous opponents to Government War Policy, through these terrible years and both have been completely defeated by the machination of Churchill and ROOSEVELT—whose, insistence in WORLD WAR has brought Europe to this terrible state of death and devastation in this sixth war year.... I think it would be a great idea to form a Mother's League (A MOTHER'S WORLD LEAGUE) on the basis of the Dick Sheppard pledge: "I renounce WAR and I will never support or sanction another" and this in conjuction with restoration of Kellog Pact and its full implication, "NO MORE WAR". Bernard Shaw—says in the book he wrote last year "The only available method to abolish war is the SOCIAL ORGANIZATION OF CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS", and surely this is primarily the mothers EDUCATINAL job. The mothers must establish their rights to the lives of their sons, the unfortunate sons have no protection against the ferocity of WARMONGERS....when, war starts they are in a death trap. ——C. E. PAYNE

When Clinton Anderson (the new Secretary of of Agriculture) visited Los Angeles on June 16, he said: "While Chairman of a Congressional Committee last year, it was my duty to hear testimony from Gerald L. K. Smith. I had been told such terrible things that I expected trouble, only to discover that I had been completely misinformed." Anderson looks and acts like a real American.

No Russ-Jap War, World Traveler Says

Russia won't fight Japan—she probably doesn't want that country beaten completely down and she doesn't like our side as represented by Chiang Kai-shek, who can't or won't get along with the Communists, Joseph C. Roucek, world traveller and educator, told a Kiwanis club luncheon meeting in a San Diego club.

Roucek declared Russia is preparing for "the coming war—what they call the imperialistic war, in which they intend our system shall disappear."

EUROPE UNIFIED

"Hitler tried to unify Europe against us," said Roucek. "He failed, but now we have Europe unified against us under communist control. Trouble swept France until De Gaulle went to Moscow. Then disorders stopped. If De Gaulle does not behave, though, trouble will start again. No regime will be allowed to exist in Europe that is unfriendly to Russia. The final word on the continent lies with the communist power.

"Not only trough the influence of might but by the cry of pan-slavism are border nations tied to Russia.

"We must get away from the stupid idea that somebody is helping us out. Russia fought for Russia. Britain fought the battle of Britain for Britain."

Fred de Aryan:

Your brother's letter in "Broom" carried American freedom to a real hot point. The old souls of Egypt may be ruling Congress but the Broom carries the truth.

Please thank the writer B. Paquet for his timely letter—or is it too late in its truth now banned by the radio —press and telegraph.

What a slavery we have created by our free enterprise to exploit the pagan that bombed Luzon! Sincerely, — —ANNE PRAEGER

Gertrude Stoughton, writer for the PEOPLE'S DAILY WORLD in Los Angeles, on June 16 made the following sensational statement: "On Tuesday, May 29, an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, named Stewart, called on Miss Frances Smith, president-elect of Local 9. He said he was acting in accordance with a program being conducted by his organization which was to find the Communists in unions in preparation for a possibe breaking of relations by the United States with the Soviet."

Warren Refuses to Promote Zionism

LOS ANGELES, (From Calif., Jewish Voice)—Startling revelation that the Governor of California lacked the intestinal fortitude displayed by thirty-five other Governors throughout the United States on the question of Palestine as a Jewish Commonwealth for the Jewish people, was revealed this week when correspondence between Governor Earl Warren and local Zionist leader Sam Wolfson was made public.

Answering a request by Wolfson for the Governor to commit himself as endorsing the program of the "Christian Council on Palestine", Warren evaded the issue by stating that "I do not believe that it is proper for me as a governor of a state during these turbulent times to urge upon our own government and the governments of our allies actions which might affect their progress in efforts to organize an association for the preservation of peace."

Until this writing the legislature of thirty-five states in this country have by resolution gone on record favoring the establishment of a Jewish Commonwealth in Palestine. In addition every free country has done likewise including the entire block of South American countries.

It is an established fact that the Standard Oil Co. has been squiring the Arabian delegations to the San Francisco Conference, said company being a potential political power in this state. Zionist leaders have attempted to interpret this condition as having influenced Warren's decision not to endorse the creation of a Jewish Commonwealth in Palestine.

Stalin is determined to have more Lend-Lease material as well as $10 billion in credit. If he does get this he will be very hard to handle, both as it relates to the San Francisco Charter and the Japanese war. The only diplomacy which pleases Russia is money, more money... materials, and more materials.

Re: SOY BEANS. I heard over the radio that, while soy beans are fine, they are not quite a perfect food. When fed to experimental animals as the sole food, the animals died; while, fed on wheat, they continued to live.

At least that's what the food scientist said.

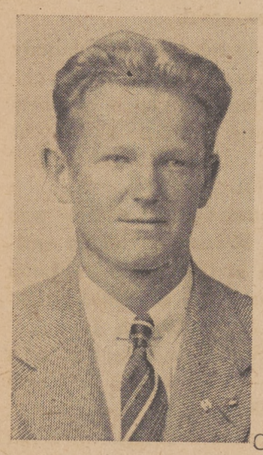
The same relative situation lies with the Japanese. If they did not expect resistance, they would not have armed for it. They would have sailed in and kicked a few people around, and seen that the people did not wish them ill-will or harm. The human response to love would eventually dominate. Lives will be lost when reactions like this begin, but reactions of this kind must begin sometime; eradication of war depends upon it.



FRED de ARYAN

The present war was touted to "make the world safe for democracy", but Russia, a Communistic -dictatorial nation, now plays the dominating role over nations who were to be supposedly freed by an act of violence. Self-defense is the argument which will finally lead people to war. The Germans were defending themselves against those who had taken lands from them previously and deprived them of economic versatility. The Japanese are defending themselves against those who would confine the large Japanese population to a few small islands. The United States and Great Britain are defending the world's "right for democracy." The English Episcopalians, the German and United States Lutherans, and the Roman and United States Catholics all pray to the same God for aid in helping to defeat the enemy. Quite a paradox.

Since man is a social, itinerant creature, the world tends to develop socially, generally speaking, as a whole. Advancements in living spread quickly and are adopted in other parts of the world. Therefore, I believe, that non-violent action will start almost every place at once, varying in degrees. One isolated spot won't suddenly become pacifist. It will be a slow development, and will eventually lead to the absence of the aggressor. This is shown by the figures given out by the various nations of the conscientious objectors, which in proportion to the population, are about the same for the various nations.

"Not until the activities of men in peace are dramatized with an effectiveness equal to that of the activities of men at war can we expect to create enthusiam for creative endeavor. War as an important institution, requires portrayal and description." — Bird, Charles: Social Psychology, pp. 508-44.

Propaganda in the newspapers, in the movies, on the radio, and the war games of children tend to draw the youth to acceptance of war as something beneficial. Even in the history books, war is glorified. Parades of soldiers stir the emotions. Expressions of sadism are vented by officers in the services. A private is clothed, fed, and directed in his life. He doesn't have to really think about tomorrow. These conditions draw the population to war.

Animals progressively have declined in their use of force. When two dogs want the same bone, they usually fight until one is defeated. Generally speaking, two men who desire the same thing will take recourse to joint reasoning to see who is the more deserving of the two to the thing in question. This has taken a form, maybe unconsciously, of the love or respect of the other person and his rights. Man has grown in the number of ways in which he can apply love.

Since man has progressed over a long previous period of time, it is only logical to assume that he will continue to progress. If he now finds fewer uses for force, and sees the futiltiy of the angry emotion which always tends to express itself in destruction of some sort; being an intelligent, reasoning creature, desirous of the better; I think it is logical that he ultimately will lose the violently expressed emotion of anger, since that form accomplishes nothing. The angry emotion may serve momentarily to bring about a reaction to a situation, and checking himself, the man responds with kindness, consideration, intelligence instead of anger. Soon the harnessing of anger to express love will become such a habit, that particular situations which formerly aroused violence in anger will automatically arouse the thought-provoking love instinct. A form of anger will always be present which is aroused by the action of self, and the anger leads to an adjustment of self through proper thinking.

The Talmud on Trial

By ALFRED WERNER in The Jewish Spectator

(Conclusion)

Professor Reuchlin was considerably upset about the arrogance and mischievousness of Pfefferkorn to whom he generally refers as "the baptized Jew." For instance, he answered the renegade's charge that, in defiance of the canon law, he had learned Hebrew from Jews, although no good Christian must have intercourse with them, as follows:

"The baptized Jew writes that Divine law forbids our holding communion with Jews; this is not true. Every Christian may go to law with them, buy of or make presents to them. Cases may occur where Christians inherit legacies together with Jews. It is allowed to converse with and learn from them, as Saint Jerome and Nicholas de Lyra did. And lastly, a Christian should love a Jew as his neighbor; all this is founded on the law."

Reuchlin had every reason in the world to be furious with Pfefferkorn. That rascal had taken away from his sworn messenger the sealed package containing his Opinion and opened and read it, although it should have been read by the Emperor first! Besides, Pfefferkorn accused the scholar of having been bribed by the Jews! As for Hoogstraten, in his capacity as inquisitor, he summoned Reuchlin to Mayence, charging him with heresy and favoring the Jews. Hadn't he treated the "insolent people" as though they were good Christians? Hadn't he made statements contrary to the spirit of the Church? For a moment it looked as if the Dominicans had scored the final victory, condemning as they were Rechlin's work to be consigned to the flames—but in the nick of time a messenger of the liberal-minded archbishop Uriel von Gemmingen arrived ordering the judges to postpone their sentence for a while.

Fully realizing that the only authority not afraid of the Dominicans was the Pope, Reuchlin thereupon submitted his study to the Holy See, at the same time secretly urging the Jewish physician of His Holiness, Bonet de Lates, to plead for the Pope's favor in his cause.

For over seven years Germany, nay, the whole civilized world, was divided into two camps; those who sided with Reuchlin and those who opposed him. It was a struggle between day and night, life and death, the black Middle Ages and the dawning new era of enlightment and tolerance. Pope Leo X conceded that the trial be held, not at Cologne, but at Speyer, another old city on the Rhine river. When, after a trial that lasted for three months, the judges acquitted Reuchlin and sentenced Hoogstraten to bear the costs of the trial, the Dominicans brought the case before a court consisting of members of the Theological Faculty of the Paris University—and here the sentence of the Speyer court was reversed. But the Pope and his council of Cardinals had the last word—and these liberal and educated men sided with Reuchlin. Instead of condemning the Talmud, Pope Leo X encouraged the printing of the work. A Christian printer, Daniel Bomberg, issued at Venice the first complete edition (1519-23) of the Babylonian Talmud. Professors of the Hebrew language were appointed at numerous universities all over Europe, and many Christian scholars sought the contact of Jews who would help them read the holy books in the original language.

Noble-minded Professor Reuchlin died at a little spa in the Schwarzwald mountains in Germany in 1522, at the age of 67, mourned by all lovers of freedom and truth, shortly before the completion of Bromberg's Talmud edition.. But he had not lived and fought in vain. His unflinching courage enabled Martin Luther to start a movement of his own, the Reformation. In a way, his work helped create our Bill of Rights and the Four Freedoms Declaration, since it broke down the fence of bigotry and prejudice.

We Jews have every reason to be grateful to Johann Reuchlin. Only a few decades after Hoogstraten, Pfefferkorn and their pals had demanded the destruction of the Talmud, a German Christian scholar, Johannes Buxtorf, extolled the Talmud as "the most luminous commentary of the Scriptural law as well as its supplement and support," containing "much excellent teaching on jurisprudence, medicine, natural philosophy, ethics, politics, astronomy, and other branches of science, which make one think highly of the history of that nation and of the time in which the work was written."

In the same year 1564, when Buxtorf was born in Westphalia, Western Germany, the man was born who was bound to become England's greatest poet. "I am a Jew," Shakespeare makes Shylock exclaim: "Hath not a Jew eyes? Hath not a Jew hands, organs, dimensions, senses, affections, passions? fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapons, subject to the same diseases, healed by the same means, warmed and cooled by the same winter and summer, as a Christian is? If you prick us, do we not bleed? if you tickle us, do we not laugh? if you poison us, do we not die? and if you wrong us, shall we not revenge?"

Reuchlin taught us that the noblest way of revenge is to state the truth!

CHATS WITH GLADYS

"Honi Soit Qui Mal Y Pense"

THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE

While I was taking Gladys to Los Angeles, on June 24th in the morning, it was Sunday, not a Saturday mistakingly reported last week, preparatory to attending the Gerald L. K. Smith meeting on the 25th, naturally, we had many interesting and valuable discourses, aside from the pleasure of each other's company. It's hard to talk to a girl sitting on my right, while I am driving, because she has to raise her voice unnaturally loud, I am deaf in my right ear. 25 years ago when I was working for the Santa Fe R. R. in New Mexico, double tracking a stretch of line south of Belem, near Albuquerque, we boys of the engineering crew were riding mornings, in cold blasts of wind, and do they blow, on the open gas buggy to work and the right ear was exposed to the wind. I was too young and ignorant to realize what the result would be, now I am deaf on that side.

But Gladys loves me a lot and is very patient in helping to overcome my handicaps, besides we both were vitally interested in our chats, so we managed quite well to carry on worth while subjects while I was driving the jalopy, or flivver of the 1936 vitage, a Willys 77.

"Will this San Francisco charter help bring some sort of order into this wartorn world, Kosti?" asked Gladys.

"No, child. Even Dr. Hanish and his pupil Nellie Wheelwright, were having futile dreams of a Federated world in their life times. Count Leo Tolstoy predicted such a federation of nations, but those were visions of the far future, not the near future. They all mistook the time element. For this reason I have always opposed even Dr. Hanish, as well as Woodrow Wilson, and all fake pacts, leagues, federations, because unless a thing is settled right it is never settled. Our own country, inspite of Washington's Farewell Address, is still a part of the International Plunder-Murder-Bund, all war criminals."

"But a start has to be made in federation."

"Don't fool yourself. A start that announces itself as a step to peace when it is another step to the Third World War, is not a step in the right direction. All these again and again and again promises of organizing for a lasting peace are just again and again and again lies to satisfy the moronic streak in people who prefer a lie to the truth just so they can feel free not to change their criminal tendencies of laziness towards Thought."

"What would you say, then, that the cause of war is?"

"Unwillingness to think and to accept the responsibility resultant from RIGHT thinking."

"But all our modern schools teach the children to think."

"If that were true not one single boy and girl could have been conscripted. Conscription is denial of the right to think, not the exercise thereof. Thinking people cannot be conscripted. They cannot conscript my two boys because they are able to think for themselves."

"But David is a slave worker."

"Yes, he has to yield to the general national Dharma, the collective Karma of the USA, but he still does not yield his sovereignity of refusing to obey orders to murder or partake in murder. He knows enough of the universal LAW to maintain his individual inviolability of the RIGHT of decision. He still exercises his own FREE will within the frame of Dharma. He works at useful tasks but not as a party to murder."

"How would you teach people to free themselves from the necessity of survival of the fittest murderer."

"O Gladys, violence is no insurance of survival. The Russians, the Germans, the Japs and ourselves, as a nation, have been murdering people but that did not save our own boys from being killed, too. It did not save the Poles, the Jews or anybody. Men, women and children have been slaughtered most wantonly, even by our boys, as never before in history. There is no survival among murderers because the blood feuds increase with violence."

"But there must be something that is lacking otherwise the world would have awakened to the futility of mass slaughter as an insurance for peace."

"Darling, nothing can save people except the individuals themselves. That's why I taught Fred and David to stand alone and mind their own. This, multiplied by millions, will save the world. There is no other way, because God guarantees FREE WILL to the individual. Hence only the individual can save himself from crime and the results of crime. As long as he and she condons crime nothing can save them from the consequences".

"How, then, can an individual stand alone in the midst of the criminal world gone madhouse and survive?"

"I am showing how in my own person. My boys show how in their own persons. Jesus showed us how in his own person. Each one of us is a child of God and responsible only to God and none else. THIS realization automatically opens up the powers within ourselves to establish our individual ability of survival because we are the fittest, who fit in with God's LAW, hence the meek survive, the boisterous murderers and violent smart Alecks kill each other off".

"But you place yourself on a par with Jesus, that would seem to be quite a lot of conceit".

"Don't let it detract from the truth. Jesus came here to teach us that God is OUR Father, mine and yours, just as much as his. Therefore we now must follow his instructions and when we do, naturally we become part of his divine family on earth and enjoy all the powers and privileges he has."

"Kosti, the preachers will denounce you for sacrilege".

"Darling, who gives a damn about those murderous preachers who take the name of God in vain to pray for success in battle. God is no murderer and never helps to murder. Those preachers are slaves of the Devil, so when they denounce me it is to my credit".

"If God does not help when one prays, why pray?"

"God never does a single thing for anybody. He is not our lackey to be ordered around. The whole picture about God is mistaken. God never made the world nor ever did a single thing, otherwise God would be responsible for all the crimes of the world".

Teachers Plan Appeal From 'Political' Firing

EAST CHICAGO, Ind.,—Miss Nellie I. Mills, 53, high school teacher dismissed because she disparaged President Roosevelt the day after his death, plans a court appeal against the school board action in cancelling her contract. She was accused of remarking to her class "for the first time in 12 years I can really pledge allegiance to America."

Officials of the Indiana Teacher's association have threatened to have the East Chicago High school removed from the accredited list because of political interference.

Sugar will be so scarce during the last six months of this year that only four fifths of a pound per person, per month, will be available. Chief cause of shortage has been the re-opening of the distilleries for the manufacture of whiskey.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

All hail to you and The Broom for exposing the cussedness in High places notably, "Why Is He Brigadier General?", in your issue of June 18th and the many other pertinent and fearless articles always appearing in your live paper.

If the papers throughout the U. S. had stood up for the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and not swallowed the propaganda we were saturated with previous to Pearl Harbor there would not be the hundreds of thousands of our boys in Europeean graves today. If your paper was got into the hands of Congressmen it would be a fine thing. They would be able to see things from your angle. Regards — — B.

Capitalism vs. Communism in Europe

United States Senate
Committe on Military Affairs
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

It should behoove us to employ our good American common sense to take stock of the present European situation—before we waste further money over there and get ourselves still deeper and more inextricably involved in the mess of our own creation in Europe.

Great Britain (living largely on the bounty of the United States, as per Churchill's own confession) together with its Western Ally, the United States, desires to preserve the capitalistic system in Central and Western Europe.

The part of Germany under Russian control has declared against communism, preferring to maintain property rights. What chance, however, have the Germans against Russian communizing by force?

Russia makes no bones about her desire to abolish the capitalistic system and install communism all over the world.

There is no compromise possible on that basic issue!

The United States and Great Britain try to gratify their Jewish interests, and their desire for revenge, by totally pauperizing the Germans and "patriotically" turning over to "American" capital all of the remainder of Germany's trade and industry (outside of what is not proposed to be destroyed outright), thus forcing some 40 to 50 millions of Germans now in the American and British occupational zones to subsist as peasants on mostly poor soil, which cannot support half of that population.

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the head of the American Military Government in Germany declared six weeks ago that it is up to the American Congress and the American people, to decide how close the German people may be allowed to come to starvation. Let it be noted here that the American citizens of German stock do not look with favor on such proposed all out starvation of their blood relatives in the old country.

The British Occupational Forces do not intend to feed the German population at all (unless the United States supply them with 1,300,000 tons of wheat for this purpose).

Consequently, hunger riots are expected to break out in Western Germany at any moment—with the situation becoming intolerable with the approach of Autumn and Winter.

On the other hand, Russia advertises that it does not wish to destroy Germany; and that it would not let the Germans starve in the Russian occupational zone, comprising half of Germany. (It should be stated here that especially Eastern Germany is more thinly populated and more suited for agriculture than the Southern the Western parts of Germany occupied by the United States and the British).

Apart from these problems, the real question to be solved right now by the United States and Britain are:

1 is Germany to be destroyed as a single state and to be split up in independent units within the borders of old Germany?

2 when are the Western conqueror nations going to relax the present restrictive policies on political freedom in Germany? And what can they offer to the Germans to displace National Socialism (or its post-war equivalent)?

Until these two questions will be solved, it is clear that whatever the military government of the Western Allies does in Germany, it cannot build anything that will make a real contribution to the peace of Europe.

And in view of such failure on our part to have done anything really constructive since V.-E. Day, it pains any reasonable person beyond expression to hear such continued "testimony" before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs as that of that park bench philosopher Bernard M. Baruch and the "Foreign Economy" Adminstrator, Leo T. Crowley, (who securely attached himself to a fat U. S. Government pay check)—both persisting that Germany be destroyed forever. One is almost forced to believe that the "elder statesman" Baruch would be glad to see Germany go Communist.

Any person with only a slight knowledge of history will remember painfully the world's woes caused by the economic vacuum, resulting from Germany having been shackled hand and foot at the Versailles "Peace" Conference, just the same as is now being advocated by Jewish American interests.

Since a repetition of such bungling by power politics seems now to be in the making—and since the United States appears to be taken for another ride—the American public is bound to realize that there is not enough America First thinking on the top levels of our government—consequently the American voters will express themselves accordingly at the next elections.

Resepctfully submitted,

"When A Feller Needs A Friend"

"When a feller needs a friend" was the theme of a comic strip some years ago.

In the case of Ye Editor, "When a feller needs a friend," there is only ONE thing to do—and that is to call upon some of my loyal readers, who have shown a "good Samaritan" soul and a spirit of benevolence that are rarely met with on this mundane sphere.

You have been so good to me that I know I shall never be able to express the eternal gratitude that abides in my breast. You are all peers and princes—the salt of the earth! God bless you!

I have a gifted friend, whom all of you know indirectly. He, like myself, as an "Anti-Communist," suffered the fires of New Deal persecution, and, like myself, was finally vindicated. But when does a man finally get rid of the slanderer's smears?

He has written many things of interest and inspiration for this paper, some anonymous and some under a pen name. He is a nationalist and a patriot. There are others, also, at this time who need financial help very badly.

Some of my friends are "tithers"—they set aside one-tenth of their income for generosity to deserving persons and causes. They cast their bread upon the waters; it will return unto them multiplied, "after many days."

I have always myself liberally shared all donations to me—to the assistance of good causes, kind persons and worthy things; mostly, however, to make up the advertising deficit in the production of this paper.

I need just now a few hundred dollars EXTRA—for the purposes indicated. And gifts to me, with no strings attached, will be deeply appreciated by myself—and also by those whom I shall help.

I thank you again and again—for all past generosity, and in advance for whatever you can spare from your present larder.

May God bless you richly!

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Enclosed you will find two dollars to help keep the Broom sweeping.

A recent Congressional Record states that "Brooms" are being imported now and I can testify that they aren't any good—I hope yours will last for all time.

Wishing you the best of everything in your good work.

I am yours Respectfully, — — P. M.

FEPC Fillibuster Reveals Negroes Coerced FDR to Establish FEPC As a War Measure—Executive Order 8802

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

WASHINGTON (Special), July 1.—Mississippi's two able senators, Bilbo and Eastland, are believed to have put the skates under the infamous "FEPC" (compulsory discrimination bill), by their three days of filibuster.

Senator Bilbo spoke to hostile galleries, packed by Negroes, Jews and other minority groups, but he filled the "Congressional Record" with an arsenal of facts and logic which annihilated the claims of the FEPC monstrosity.

For the first time in or out of Congress, the real reason for FDR issuing his infamous "Executive Order 8802" ordering plants and businesses with war contracts to employ Negroes.

FDR WAS COERCED BY A GROUP OF NEGROES AND JEWS, INCLUDING LA GUARDIA OF NEW YORK, UNDER THREAT OF A NEGRO MARCH ON WASHINGTON—something like 200,000 Negroes were promised, if FDR failed to act.

Fearing the power of those minority groups and not wishing to tie up Washington in these tense war times, FDR yielded—AFTER AN ALL DAY SESSION with Eugene Davidson and the communistic A. Philip Randolph, both Negroes, and Aubrey Williams and LaGuardia.

Senator Bilbo quoted from the book, "What the Negro Wants," by Rayford W. Logan, a "gentleman of color," in which the Negroes' claim to power over and coercion of the President is clearly set forth on page 16.

NEGROES' POOR SHOWING

Senator Bilbo's colleague, Senator Eastland, also spoke eloquently for nearly four hours, in which he asserted that high American officers overseas had told him that, on the whole, our Negroes made a poor showing in the army, often lying down and refusing to fight, that the 92nd (Colored) division had made a reputation for incompetence.

One general told the senator that, if all American forces had been like the 92nd, the Germans would have pushed our men off the Italian boot!

French Senegalese (black) soldiers had forced German girls in a subway and RAPED 5,000 OF THEM, according to authentic accounts.

CHARLESTON PAPER'S HOT EDITORIAL

Senator Bilbo quoted from the famous old S. C. newspaper, the Charleston "News and Courier", which summed up the informed Southern attitude on FEPC:

"For the passage by Congress of a bill perpetuating the FEPC, at least one argument can be advanced. It would make the issue plain. Were the bill to become law, and attempt to enforce it were made, it would and it should be disobeyed and resisted in the South.

"The South should put those who enforce it on notice that they would needs send an army of coercion to occupy the South—even as armies are this day occupying Germany.

"The proponents of the measure would as well understand that the right of a textile corporation, of a newspaper corporation, a bank or any other corporation or employer, to discriminate between races will be upheld by force, in the South, if necessary; that nothing short of military coercion will prevent the South from nullifying any FEPC bill if it shall become a law.

"The FEPC bill is a preliminary step toward compelled racial amalgamation, and the News and Courier is convinced that the overwhelming majority of northern white people are opposed to it. It is convinced that the rational leaders of the colored people in the South are also opposed to it.

"If another reconstruction is to be attempted in the South, the sooner that the issue shall be understood, the better for the American people. Passage of the FEPC bill by Congress would uncover the designs of the politicians who would sell out the white race for the Negro vote in a dozen great American cities."

Certain pro-Communist Jews have organized a nation-wide campaign to prevent Gerald L. K. Smith from leasing public speaking halls. Their technique is to meet and organize a telephone campaign, bombarding the management of the speaking hall. Frequently threats of violence are employed. In Los Angeles telephone calls to the management of the Philharmonic Auditorium were so terrorizing that they made the manager actually believe that his hall would be blown up. The reaction is terrible. Managers can readily detect who is calling, and although terrorized, they become very bitter, due to the fact that the telephone calls make it impossible for them to carry on their routine business. Smith's meetings in Los Angeles have been the largest the city has seen for many years.

On June 15 a feature article appeared in IZVESTIA (official Stalin newspaper) written by its editor. The writer condemned certain Americans by name, pronounced them a menace to Russian-American relations. The Russian paper listed them as follows: Charles E. Coughlin, Gerald L. K. Smith, William Randolph Hearst, Col. Robert McCormick, U. S. Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, U. S. Senator Taft of Ohio, the Priesthood of the Catholic Church, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luce. The Russian periodical said: "These Americans represent a large and vocal minority whose political sympathies and efforts are in direct opposition to the national interests of the U. S."

"PM" Attacks "Nationalists" and Features "The Broom"

Head of the "Jackal" Press Tries to Win Negro and Jewish Readers by Raising Racial Issues

NEW YORK (Special), July 1.—The "newspaper" (?) PM, leader of the "jackal" press, is playing up Jewish and Negro issues, in the apparent hope of increasing its circulation in Harlem and the lower East side.

One week ago it featured a charge that the Army had been teaching "Anti-Semitism", but had withdrawn the course; and on Wednesday its front page shouted, "Correction: USAFI Still Teaches Racism; Official School Ditstributes Anti-Semitic Material Despite Denial." (We mentioned this in a previous article).

Today Tom O'Connor, PM's chief "hate" reporter and one of the few Gentiles on its staff, takes the top headline on the front page to say, "HOW NATIONALISTS ARE KNIFING FEPC" and on pages 10 and 11 the big spread: United GOP Tories, Democratic Bigots."

In his two-page spread Tom uses photographs from five "nationalist" publications of "Anti-FEPC" articles, one of the most prominent being that of Washington Adams' "Federal City" of February 4, "The Broom" of Feb., 12, denouncing FEPC as a vicious proposal.

Beside the headings only ten lines of the body reproduced, closing with the line "Five years ago I wrote an article entitled". Here it stopped, in "PM" fashion, omitting the balance of the sentence, "IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYER THE NEW DEAL HATES YOU." etc.

Underneath the photographed article was this: "This is from The Broom, a vicious anti-Semitic sheet published in California by Leon de Aryan (under indictment for sedition)." "Exhibits from Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League."

This so-called "Non-Sectarian League" is a Jewish refugee outfit, which works hand-in-glove with Birkhead's "Friends of Democracy", also with the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. They were the private "OGPU", who worked up the mob-pressure against the 30 Christian "Anti-Communists" in the Washington "Moscow" trial.

Other exhibits in today's "PM" are the front pages of "GENTILE NEWS" (Chicago), "The Individualist" (Danville, Va.), "Economic Council Letter" of Merwin K. Hart, 350 Fifth Ave., N. Y. and "The Hoosier Patriot," Hammond, Ind., all condemning the communist "FEPC".

O'Connor also attacks the Chicago Tribune, The Hearst press, N. Y. Daily News, Washington Times-Herald, Westbrook Pegler, Ex- Senator Reynolds, Congressmen Rankin and Hoffman, and all who attack the New Deal and Red Socialism.

WHAT IS ANTI-SEMITISM ?

Is it Anti-Semitic to criticise or analyze the Jewish immigrant? Is it unpatriotic to question his qualities for good or bad citizenship?

The Army quoted, in its educational course C 581, from a chapter, entitled "The Melting Pot," in Andre Sigfried's "America Comes of Age," and asked the student to reproduce it in his own words. "PM" condensed it as follows:

"Protestants of Nordic origin are readilly assimilated into American life, Latin Catholics less so, and 'the Jewish race' almost not at all."

"The Jew has a mind that can neither be tamed nor disciplined, for he questions everything for his own particular ends. This is just what the Americans do not want."

"The Jew is an intellectual revolutionary to the point of suspicion...."

JEW "PSEUDO-AMERICAN"

"Surreptitiously, they (Jews) have invaded their hotels until they have crowded the Gentiles out.

"The Jew is a 'pseudo-American,' 'unassimilated,' 'alien'. The Jews range from 'aristocratic banker of London or Frankfort to verminious refugees from the ghettos of the Ukraine and Poland', they are 'irreconcilables'.

"The Americans, especially in New York—that New Jerusalem—have a grudge against him (the Jew), because he forces them to keep up with his feverish pace."

This writer talked with a prominent member of the Bar Association, regarding the French writer's analysis of the Jews in America.

This lawyer asserted vehemently that EVERY WORD REGARDING THE JEW WAS 100% CORRECT, and offered to quote passages from Anglo-Jewish publications to prove it.

Of course, everyone knows that many Jews are assimilated 100% Americans, such as columnists George Sokolsky, Benj. DeCasseres, David Lawrence, and the lawyer-author Henry Klein. All of these also were born in this country, and the first three married Gentiles.

But New Yorkers generally will agree that the description of the Jews, here in America—by and large, is absolutely correct.

Americans will welcome and treat generously every good and patriotic, assimilable Jew, but will wish to exclude from admission every unassimilable, alien-minded Jew, who puts his 'race' and group first and America last.

Dictatorial, despotic groups, such as the "ADL League of B'nai B'rith", Anti-Nazi League and Friends of Democracy will ultimately be exposed and will disappear from the American scene. At present they are dominant, and leading our country to ruin; but GREAT WILL BE THEIR FALL.

The Communist Party is re-organizing for a tough, bitter fight. It will move its strategic base of operation from New York City to Hollywood. Earl Browder may be sidetracked as a hypocritical gesture. The Party will continue to work in perfect harmony with Stalin's government in Russia. All Nationalists and anti-Communists will be branded as Fascists.
